Skinny Skribbles

Around
And
About
Town

With
C. F.
(SKIRVIN)

If the fem friend will stop at Rhyolite, Nev., she will find the house made out of stone and bottles. At least that is the information which comes to me from another friend who is authority on bottles. Anyway, the name of the ghost town is spelled correctly even if the bottles aren't there.

The Orange County Peace Officers' association collected the ticket they sold me for the barbecue, but they gave me plenty for it. I've mixed with a detachment of those fellows on former occasions, and their sympathetic disposition always got more food on my plate than I could accommodate, and it was too embarrassing to take it home.

Problems are never solved where sympathy makes the decision instead of factual conclusions.

There isn't any reason why this country should go to the devil—it is. Every morning I see groups of men at divergent corners discussing the affairs of nation, and offering remedial action. The trouble seems to be they weren't elected to congress.

It was the recent tourist from the east who prophesied rain when old-timers called it a high fog.

If the grand jury goes where one of the supervisors committed it, there might be a chance of getting an overcoat.

Jumping in front of a locomotive when it is in motion is a little way of stopping it. If I ever take a jump it will be just as far away from a moving locomotive as I am able to jump.

Fem friend requests my inspection of a ring, and has such confidence that she removed it from her finger. Which, if you grab me, took away a lot of joy out of the inspection.

And then there was the railroad man who thought I was on the wrong train, but he offered no ticket for another line.

The suggestion that an absent aviator may have gone to China to get some experience in aerial warfare is a reason but not a probability. March field offers practice and it is only a few miles away. And if anything happens you are much nearer home. Nope, you got to offer something more problematical.

Another fem friend contributes a rose without knowing it. It adorns the desk on which my typewriter is located. With the aid of an accomplice the flower was purchased so I could enjoy the fragrance which was being wafted on the office atmosphere without contributing to the enjoyment of visitors. I was so thrilled that I started to sing "Only a Rose," from "The Vagabond King," when some old scoundrel came along and said I couldn't sing and never would be a king. There's always someone to take the joy out of life.

Hale Barker is also a fisherman. He slips on the rocks and bumps a knee. Thinks I don't know about it as I do not go fishing. But I get the fish stories right from the waterfront.

Noel Berry slips a note on the keyboard about a picture of William Bell, Jr., being on the wall in Hale Barker's place of business, and wants to know if I know him, just because the natal city happened to be Creston, Iowa, in 1902. Bell has become a noted tuba virtuoso. Tep, Noel, I know him.

Woman Asks Gas of Police; Arrested

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—"Give me two gallons of gas," said Mrs. Frances Evelyn Pihl, as she stopped during the early morning hours in front of a brightly lighted sheriff's substation.

But sheriff's deputies, W. A. Parnon and R. T. Hopkinson, decided that she already was "gassed up" and booked her on suspicion of drunk driving.

Ford, FDR To Discuss Recovery

JOIN FIRST TIME SINCE NRA BATTLE

Auto Leader Accepts Presidential Bid

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Henry Ford, strenuously at odds at times with the present administration, accepted today President Roosevelt's invitation to an informal White House conference where depression problems will be discussed. Ford said at Sudbury, Mass., where he is visiting, that "of course" he would discuss business conditions with Mr. Roosevelt but emphasized that he did not intend to give any advice. He also added he had no axe to grind.

The Detroit automobile manufacturer, who refused to sign the automobile code when NRA's blue eagle was flying, was asked to luncheon in the executive mansion here next Wednesday.

Ford voiced the belief that America was on the road back to normalcy, but warned against overconfidence and predicted that commodity prices would be established at a lower level.

No Axe to Grind

Henry Ford, motor magnate, will discuss the national recovery program with President Roosevelt, but he has "no axes to grind," he said today.

TAXES POUR IN DESPITE INCREASES

Over Eighty Per Cent Already Paid

Orange county taxpayers dug into their pockets more promptly this year, Tax Collector J. C. Lamb reported today as he emerged from a tall stack of checks and receipts which poured into his office before last night's tax payment deadline.

Despite a rise in taxes of almost $1,000,000 from last year, $4.78 per cent of taxes due had been credited this morning as paid, compared with $3.91 per cent at the same date last year.

Of a total tax charge for 1937-38 of $5,466,275.54, $4,634,373.96 had been paid at closing time last night, during the period from Nov. 1 to April 20, Lamb reported. Last year the total was less out of a tax charge of $4,579,873.81.

As soon as Lamb's records are complete, expected to be within two weeks, the money will be turned over to County Treasurer T. E. Stephenson, who will deposit it in banks at 1 per cent interest. Money from the sale of flood control bonds, the treasurer said, amounting to $1,455,000, will also be deposited at 1 per cent until needed. It will be used for land purchases in the Prado dam site area by July 1.

The county will make more money on interest this year than had been expected, Stephenson reported. Including tax and bond money to be received soon, interest for the fiscal year will amount to about $22,000, he estimated. He had estimated an income from interest of $15,000 for the year, but that mark was reached by mid-February.

LEAGUE SET FOR HEARING

GENEVA. (AP)—Troublesome, delicate questions piled up today for the league of nations council, scheduled to open an important session May 9.

Halle Selassie, deposed emperor of Ethiopia, notified Joseph Avenol, the league's secretary-general, he would be represented at the session to fight against recognition of Italy's conquest of his country.

Switzerland, seeking further guarantees of her neutrality and freedom from league obligations, drafted a demand the council consider the question of her "integral neutrality."

Already embarrassment was promised the council by the demand of Spain that the session take up the question of foreign intervention in the Spanish civil war.

It Cost $5 Per Tootle For Toot

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—The toot of an automobile horn in Buffalo was appraised at $5.00 by City Judge Patrick J. Keeler.

"How many times did you blow?"

"Oh, about three times," Pawlik replied.

"Well, that will cost you $5 a tootle. And three toots makes it a total of $15," said the judge. "The citizens need a rest from horn tooters."

Disabled Sloop Towed Into Port

Fearing a repetition of last week's tragedy in which three college youths are believed to have lost their lives, Coast Guard cutters spent last night searching for a second missing sloop, bringing the craft and its two occupants into the harbor early this morning.

Chester Seay, owner of the sloop "Pot Luck" and his passenger, Milton E. Gray, were reported missing from San Pedro last night when they failed to arrive in Newport before dark. They had left yesterday morning in the sailboat.

The pair were found shortly after dawn today, their boat becalmed and their outboard motor, which was used for auxiliary power, disabled.

Harbormaster T. E. Bouchee at Balboa aided in the search for the missing pair yesterday evening and met the Coast Guard cutter Aurora as it towed the missing craft into the harbor this morning.

Coast Guard planes and ships are still keeping a lookout for a missing sloop with three college boys aboard which disappeared April 12 on a trip to Catalina Island. ## L. A. SUSPECT IDENTIFIED BY CASHIER

Ex-Convict on Parole Named as Man

Positive identification of Harry Groves, now facing murder charges in Los Angeles, as the man who twice held up and robbed the Southern County bank in Buena Park, had been made today by Cashier Bert M. Wells.

The identification virtually closed the two robbery cases, the first occurring Jan. 20 and the other March 17, which appeared to have baffled county and federal officials.

Deputy sheriffs will take other witnesses to Los Angeles to complete the identification tomorrow. The Journal learned after receiving word from Buena Park that Wells had discovered his attacker in a Los Angeles police "show-up" Tuesday night.

Groves, an ex-convict on parole from San Quentin penitentiary, is charged with the robbery and murder of a beer parlor operator in Belvedere Gardens. He and four companions were arrested in Kansas City, Mo., on information furnished by Orange county deputy sheriffs.

Though Groves' wife and Leo Frome, George Braun and John Rodriguez all have been named defendants in the robbery and murder case, Groves alone will be held on the Orange county charge if he escapes conviction in Los Angeles.

Armed with a warrant for Groves' arrest, based on a partial identification, Deputy Sheriffs F. Merle Dean and G. F. McKelvey traced the suspect through Arizona and New Mexico late last month, after talking with Lieutenant Chilson of the Los Angeles police and Hal Oxnevad, an Arizona official, they learned he was headed for Kansas City, and on this information, relayed from Sheriff Logan Jackson, Los Angeles sheriff's office sped there to await his arrival. He was arrested there March 27.

The first holdup at Buena Park netted $380 in silver and currency, and the second amounted to $250. When he saw pictures of Groves shortly after the holdup, Wells told officers he was "fairly sure" it was the man, and he made the positive identification this week, after Groves had been extradited for murder. Misses Mildred Dunlap and Ruth Bastady, employees at the bank, were to accompany sheriff's deputies to Los Angeles tomorrow to verify the identification.

Knew his dad, who was an able instructor in the public schools. You see, I left Creston along in 1905, and Bell has done most of his blowing since that time, but I have been too far away to hear him.

After a long experience I have found out that you can also find out what you want to find out if you ask the fellow who knows.

Through the courtesy of Earl Waycott, son of E. M., Policeman Charley Neer is in possession of a plaque, an exact duplicate of the bathtub sidecar in which the portly officer makes his morning rounds, assisted by Chester Gross, who so far has carried his assistant through traffic without accident. The presentation was made by E. M. at the Orange County Police Officers' Association barbecue.

Rufus McMillan contemplative piscatorially. Site in mind and approximate date set. Along comes O. K. Forgy and volunteers the information that a certain pool in the South Fork section suffered from the recent flood, and that it isn't available. O. K. goes on to explain that about 33 feet of water washed out a big tree which was older than "Mac's" grandfather, and there wouldn't be any use for him to try and fish in that particular locality for some time. So when O. K. moves away Rufus tells me confidentially that he knows a way to get to that fishing pool, and that "Ollie" was just trying to keep him away from it.

Jack Wallace went to the Orange County Peace Officers' barbecue, and said something to me which I've forgotten. Must have been a warning about eating too much, or something equally important. Now I've got to see Jack and find out what he said. Isn't most conversations about that important?

Met Frank Rinehart of Newport at the barbecue meet and meat. His reply to an inquiry as to the recent municipal election in his town was answered by one of those interpretative smiles which can mean anything, and probably did.

If you did not pay the last half of your taxes yesterday, you can pay them today, but it will cost you more.

KIWANIS HEARS WAGE DEBATE

An academic debate on the advantages and practicability of wage- and hour legislation was presented for Santa Ana Kiwanis yesterday by two touring Fresno state college students, Allean Noble and Otto Berg, at the club's weekly luncheon in Masonic temple. Loyal King was chairman-of-the-day.

He did say, however, that "the China question must be the basis for solution of all outstanding domestic problems" and "beyond that I have no ideas about cabinet changes."

He declared his approval of formation of a new political party "from an idealistic viewpoint" but thought it "doubtful a better party can be formed by mere reshuffling of existing ones."

Bluntly, the premier dealt with reports that his home minister, Admiral Nobunasa Suetsugu, was active behind the scenes in organizing a new nationalist (Fascist) party.

"The home minister is a novice in politics," Prince Konoye said. "He is no doubt aware he should be careful in his participation in these movements."

Admiral Suetsugu, in his own press interview a short time before that of the premier, said the critical situation sprang from military matters and admitted that enforcement "seems difficult" for the government's "unchangeable" policy of obtaining a favorable, pro-Japanese regime in China.

COOGAN SAVES MOTHER FROM HOME OUSTER

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Jackie Coogan saved his mother and stepfather today from legal ouster from the luxurious mansion his screen fortune built.

"The kid" came to the rescue when he learned that a temporary receiver, appointed after he filed a $4,000,000 accounting suit against Arthur L. and Lillian Coogan yesterday by two touring Fresno state college students, Allean Noble and Otto Berg, at the club's weekly luncheon in Masonic temple. Loyal King was chairman-of-the-day.

Hurrying to his attorney's office 23-year-old Coogan obtained a stipulation whereby his mother and stepfather could remain in possession of the property, pending trial of his suit.

However, Receiver John Bibb was in full charge of Jackie Coogan's estate, and the Coogan Finance company, organized during the lifetime of Jackie's father. One of Bibb's decisions was to allow some $4000 in taxes on real property controlled by the Bernsteins to become delinquent rather than borrow money to pay them.

A hearing on the Bernsteins' petition to dismiss the temporary receivership is set for tomorrow. Jackie made public last night a letter he said was written in January of last year, by his stepfather, Bernstein, cutting off his credit at a popular Hollywood restaurant.

"It was more than embarrassing," Jackie declared. "I wasn't running up big bills. Besides, when a man is about to be married he needs to have credit to buy the things necessary for a wedding and a home."

Jackie was married a few months ago to Betty Grable, film dancer.

M'ADOO FIGHTS GRAFT CHARGE OF PUSTAU

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—United States Senator William G. McAdoo branded today statements in an affidavit of Carl Pustau, lobbyist, in connection with the $1,000,000 libel suit of William H. Neblett, as "whiffing lies, insinuations as they refer to me."

Pustau's statements are contained in a 110-page affidavit attached to Neblett's suit against Peirson Hall, former United States attorney, certain Southern California Democratic leaders and others. Pustau claimed to have had dealings with the McAdoo-Neblett law firm, now dissolved, in connection with a $900,000 supplemental appropriation for the new Los Angeles federal building.

Franco's Rebels Strike Madrid in Surprise Move

Meyers Defies Gov. Martin In Olympia Battle

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP)—Lieut. Gov. Victor Aloysius Meyers today defied Gov. Clarence Martin to halt a "bread and butter" special session of the legislature he called while Martin was out of the state.

The former jazz band leader, who entered politics as a joke, rallied liberal and left-wing legislators in an effort to have a quorum in both houses next Monday, the date he ordered them to meet.

Martin said he was "astounded" at Meyers' action, but refused to take the call seriously.

Apparently he relied on the ruling of Attorney General C. W. Hamilton that Meyers had "no authority under the constitution" to issue the call.

LEASING BATTLE HALTS OIL EXCITEMENT IN SANTA ANA

NEW DERRICK SITE LOCATED IN ANAHEIM

Ball Road District Scene of Drilling

General Petroleum and other major oil companies, which for the past few weeks have been leasing land south of Santa Ana for oil drilling purposes, were reported leaving this area, at least temporarily, today, because landowners were renting small plots of property to independent operators at a higher scale than that set by the large companies.

Meanwhile, giving foundation to persistent rumors of another try for oil production near Anaheim, Shell Oil company announced today location of a derrick site in the Ball road district, not far from the recent dry Mathis well.

The new test well to be made south of Anaheim's city limits, it was reported today, with the location staked at Ball road and Walnut street. The well will be known as West No. 1.

The major company previously had made a location 900 feet to the north, but abandoned plans to drill there because of Anaheim zoning restrictions, it was reported.

Anaheim district's latest wildcat is only a short distance from the Mathis well site. This wildcat was drilled to 5700 feet before operators abandoned. Another test well, Harbeson No. 1 was drilled west of the city, but was halted at 8,600 feet. The Harbeson derrick still stands on the property, however, indicating possibility of a further test before abandonment.

The district south of Anaheim has been the scene of a heavy leasing drive during the past few weeks, with at least 12 companies competing for land in the area.

Federal Symphony Earns Applause Of Music Lovers

By DONALD BUTTON

Ranging from Mozart to Sibelius in last night's concert at Willard auditorium the Federal Symphony, under the baton of Leon Eckles, drew the well-earned applause of an enthusiastic audience.

Tschaikowsky's "Capriccio Italien" set the mood for a spring evening concert, prepared the audience for the brilliant Sibelius "King Christian Suite II" which immediately followed.

Without being monotonous or repetitious, as Sibelius can be, this suite proved to be a handsome vehicle for the orchestra, being marked particularly by the strong cello part in the Elegie.

In this number Conductor Eckles proved himself master of his instrument, the orchestra, in the satisfactory conveyance of mood implied to the audience. There was a whimsical quality to the Musette, a lingering melancholy to the Nocturne, a pulse-throbbing for the Ballade.

However one had prepared to "endure" a number of woodwind solo, any doubt as to their employment was immediately dispelled with Dale Porter's flute solo, "Bagatelle" by Flashman that opened the second part of the program.

This was followed by Dorothy Lutz's liting "Pastoral Joyeuse" from the pen of Des Portes, Hugo Rimond's clarinet soloing of a Mozart Adagio.

Porter and Rimond then came back for Herbert's "L'Encore" which, paradoxically, drew the only encore of the evening.

I did not care for the Saint-Saens "Romance" Gordon Moore, accompanied by Dorothy Lutz at the piano, offered on the bassoon, but the audience vigorously applauded it.

I thought Moore was heard to

ORANGE YOUTH CONVICTED ON KIDNAP CHARGE

Lawson O. Gist, 23-year-old Orange youth, faced the prospect today of spending the rest of his life in the penitentiary.

A superior court jury yesterday afternoon deliberated only 20 minutes before finding Gist guilty of three felony charges—kidnaping, robbery and grand theft—for which he faces terms of life, five years to life, and one to 10 years.

Gist's attempt to establish an alibi through witnesses who said he was attending a party Feb. 25, night of the crime, was unsuccessful. He was convicted of abducting James K. Givens of Santa Ana at Eleventh and Main streets, forcing him at the point of a gun to drive several blocks and taking his car and personal property worth $71.15.

The youth's attorney, Fred Johnston, made oral motion for a new trial, which will be argued before Presiding Superior Judge James L. Allen April 29. Deputy Dist. Atty. Harold McCabe prosecuted.

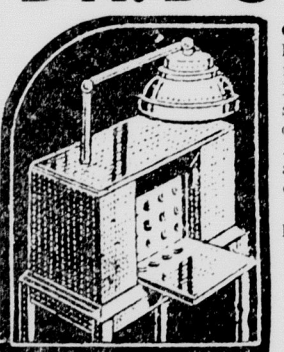

much better advantage in the Pirani quartets which these four soloists played so delightfully.

The program closed with the full orchestra's playing of Rimsky-Korsakov's "Dance of the Buffoons," majestic in contrast to the airy mood of the Pirani just preceding.

The program was well balanced, being neither profound nor trivial. It offered a variety of expression to an audience that, being sincere, could also be discriminating.

We, the audience, liked it! We want more!

Yesterday's police barbecue looked like a combination between a Newport-Balboa rally and a political meeting. Mostly the latter. Everyone out for almost any office was there.

Jesse Elliott, I think, had the best time of anyone there. He spent most of his time galloping around from friend to friend, and when he wasn't doing that, he was crooning over the microphone. There was a lot of interference with his work as master of ceremonies, and it wasn't static, either. There was a constant rumble from the crowd—people were rushing back for "seconds."

The entire official family, almost, of Newport attended. Mayor Williamson, City Clerk Frank Rinehart, Treasurer J. A. Gant, Police Chief R. (Red) Hodgkinson and numerous of his efficient patrolmen, Councilman Dick Whitson, Engineer Pat Patterson, Fire Chief Frank Crocker—there probably were lots more, too, but I didn't see 'em.

And then there was Gordon Findlay of the Newport Findlays. Gordon was moaning all over the place because there wasn't any soup. He likes soup even better, he claims, than barbecued meat and frijoles. Gus Tampus and Jimmy Watkins—those guys who have an annual feud out on the ocean and dump each other into bait tanks and things—they were arguing so fast they couldn't even listen to the speeches!

Harbormaster Tommy Bouche's eating fete deserves a special paragraph. He was eating when I arrived, and still at it when I left. And that's a real compliment to the barbecue cooks, because Tommy knows something about banging skillets himself.

Police Chief Grant, Judge C. P. (Missouri) Patten, M. M. McCullen, Bill Gallienne and his whoop and holler gang were there from Huntington Beach, having a swell time, even if Mayor Elmer (Horse-shoes) Hughes from Seal Beach was pestering 'em.

I was afraid to enjoy my dinner, however. Kept jumping up to see if the bathtub boys had been marking the tires on my car for overtime parking.

George Franzen from Orange escorted Mayor Boice to the picnic, or vice-versa.

The mayor and I were discussing the high price of Scandinavian scollops, or something, when Assemblyman Clyde Watson rushed up to remark he was sorry he'd forgotten to invite me to an Izaak Walton steak bake the night before.

If Clyde wasn't such a nice guy I'd put him down in my little black book, on account of I like Izaak Walton steak bakes!

Other items of food night "fore last, in Laguna, too, when the Coast association listened to speeches and saw moon pitchers.

Harry Welch, who did a lot of the talking, got himself a "stooge," too.

Harry read a report having to do with infantile paralysis. He came to that other long word which I don't even know how to spell—you know, it starts "polio"—and goes on like that for a couple of pages—well, Harry stumbled something terrible over that word. Then Dr. Thomas Spencer Miller popped right out with the correct manipulation, which brought a big laugh.

And every time Harry'd come to the word, after that, Dr. Miller'd boom out with his version of how to treat long words.

Think J. P. Greeley from Balboa is one of the most ardent attenders at Coast meetings. He's there every time. But he hasn't missed more'n one or two since he helped found the lusty association years and years ago.

Less Kimmell, Laguna's fish and game connoisseur, made a speech and, for once, didn't mention sardines, to the great disappointment of some of us. Less has unbounded sympathy for the plight of the ill-treated minnows, and usually gets me so steamed up I want to grab a pole and dash out and catch the big fish that're eating the little ones!

Burr Brown was there, talking about elections. And battleships. And Senator Harry Westover showed he knew how to make a speech, because he looked at his watch, buttoned his coat and then told a joke. The only place he slipped was when he forgot to take a sip of water!

Me'n my friend Uncle Dan Mulhaddon had a long during-dinner talk about this and that, mostly the latter. We settled all the political situations and our dinners at the same time, and didn't have even one argument, which is a record!

TOWNSEND NEWS, VIEWS

By WALTER R. ROBB

(This column deals with Townsend news and views. Any opinions which are expressed herein are not necessarily those of The Journal.)

Whether or not Dr. Townsend's walkout on the Townsend investigating committee was planned in advance, as some writers have asserted, this writer does not know. One thing, however, he does know and that is the statement made by C. Jasper Bell in his message to the President to that effect won't increase his popularity with the Townsend movement.

It is not the statement itself but the language in which it is couched and the slurring inferences which will be resented. Particularly the statement "he was under the influence of men of stronger will and intelligence than his own."

These words of C. Jasper Bell remind me of the scriptural description of certain men "who were ever learning and never able to come to a knowledge of the truth."

That Dr. Francis E. Townsend has an unusually strong will is well known and from the standpoint of intelligence the doctor was capable, as he proved, of putting C. Jasper Bell in a ridiculous position. Perhaps, however, that wasn't so difficult a feat as to be considered an evidence of intelligence on the part of the doctor. After the blundering mess which C. Jasper Bell made of piloting the Townsend investigating committee one would think he would blush with mortification when speaking of such a matter as intelligence.

Dr. Townsend emerges from the whole affair a somewhat humbled victor but C. Jasper Bell and the members of his committee will never be able to live down the shame that comes from having had a part in such an un-American purpose as characterized the committee's efforts to destroy the Townsend movement through the besmirching of its leader.

A Townsend mass meeting is being staged in the Olive Grammar school at 7:30 tonight. This is the second of such meetings which are being held with the purpose of organizing a Townsend club in Olive. Tonight's program will start off with a concert by the Hurd-Letz orchestra of Santa Ana and A. M. Mapes of Santa Ana will be the master of ceremonies and Walter K. Robb will be the speaker. A short community song service will be conducted so bring your song books. Here's a chance for you Olive people to enjoy a real Townsend meeting. Whether you believe in the plan or not come out and hear it discussed.

Miss Constance Duffy, Santa Ana colored young lady, will be the featured entertainer before Santa Ana club No. 3 which will meet at 7:30 tonight in Townsend hall at 509 West Fourth street. She will give a program of readings. Philip S. Doolittle, club president, will preside.

Paul Gardner, Los Angeles Y. M. C. A. director of interchurch activities and Townsend lecturer, will speak for Santa Ana club No. 10 at its meeting being held at 7:30 tomorrow night in Townsend hall with Edith L. Paul, president, acting as the presiding officer. This speaker is a young man who is unusually dynamic. If you think the Townsend plan is only for the old you will change your mind when you hear him.

Peter Benheim says Santa Ana club No. 7 will meet for a business meeting in the Roosevelt school on East First street at 7:30 tomorrow evening.

but not dangerous. Guards, judges and other features are to be worked out.

Cooperation of the summer playground supervisors will be sought in connection with preparations and running of the derby as the playground will be in operation at the time.

'Soap Box Derby' Planned For Fullerton Youngsters

FULLERTON.—An Orange county "soap box derby" is being planned for July under the sponsorship of the Fullerton Rotary club. Drivers to the age of 15 years will have an opportunity to demonstrate their skill at driving the home-made "pushcarts," it was announced.

Plans were made for installation in May, and for a regular meeting next Monday at the school, and Mrs. Coltrin is to be sent to the state meeting at San Francisco in May.

BADMINTON TOURNAMENT

LAGUNA BEACH.—The Laguna Beach Badminton club will travel to Garden Grove Friday for a scheduled game with the club there. Thus far Garden Grove and Laguna each has won a game.

LAGUNA BEACH.—It begins to appear as if Laguna will not have the permanent amphitheater which had been planned for the annual Festival of Arts by the Art Festival association. When the association purchased property for the amphitheater it believed its land extended to within six feet of the Woman's club building. Facts now show that the boundary is 30 feet from the Woman's club, leaving the association far short of enough land to build the stage.

At a meeting of the Woman's club recently members decided that they could not sacrifice their property but were willing to let the Festival association use their property for a temporary structure. The festival for this year has been planned for the week of July 29 through Aug. 6.

PASADENA GUESTS SILVER ACRES.—Mr. and Mrs. Carl E. Jensen and Billy and Jack Jensen spent Sunday in Pasadena as members of a family party which included Mrs. Jensen's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. ## Wee Kirk Is Setting Of Local Rites

Choosing the romantic setting of the wee kirk of the Heather at Glendale for their wedding, Miss Elsie Marie Siemsen and Daniel Martin Jones of Santa Ana were married last night in the presence of approximately 200 friends.

The attractive bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Siemsen of 1510 North Main street, was dressed in white satin made princess style with a long train and a fingertip veil falling from a satin-braided headpiece clustered with orange blossoms. She carried a sheaf of white iris and lilac.

Shades of blue were worn by her attendants, forming an exquisite contrast to the bridal costume and decorations of the church. The latter was a bower of white blossoms, with white and blue streamers hanging from the ceiling and white and blue tulle bows at each post and with tall candelabra shedding light upon the satin pillows where the couple knelt.

Miss Rachel Jones wore palest blue chiffon, Miss Mary Ford was in a slightly deeper blue, and Miss Dorothy Siemsen was in vivid deep blue. Each carried a sheaf of fragrant lilacs. Little Anna Mae Hill as flower girl also was outfitted in blue with a frock of organdy.

Robert Windolph officiated as best man for Mr. Jones, while ushers were Walter Whitman of Anaheim and Delbert Tucker of Santa Ana. The Rev. O. Scott McFarland of the Santa Ana First Presbyterian church made the Glendale trip in order to wed the couple, and Mr. William H. Siemsen gave his daughter in matrimony.

Softest harp music was heard before and after the rites, with Mrs. J. W. Norval of Glendale presiding at the instrument.

After a honeymoon trip of several days Mr. and Mrs. Jones will return to make their home at 1107 Bush street, and on Sunday their wedding reception will be held at the Siemsen home.

Miss Siemsen is a member of Beta Sigma Phi, Wrycende Maegden, and Junior Order of the Mothers of the World. Her husband is connected with the city police force, and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jones of Tustin.

Half a hundred friends and relatives witnessed the ceremony performed amid fragrant Easter lilies and lighted tapers. Miss Frances Nuckolls was soloist, singing a number of old favorites.

Immediately after the rites Mr. and Mrs. Smith left for Marengo, Iowa, where they will make their home.

Members of a bridge club to which Mrs. Farwell, the former Kay Swales, belonged, were guests of the evening, as were a bridge foursome of friends of Mrs. Swales, accompanied by their husbands. Mrs. Farwell has often substituted at her mother's bridge foursome, and so was well acquainted with all the guests present at the charming affair.

The dining room completely illuminated by candlelight, the soft glow emanated from white tapers in two large candelabra and several smaller holders on the table, all of which were wedding presents of Mrs. Swales. The lovely dinner table setting was completed by a group of white iris at a table centerpiece.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Hoiles from the foursome group, which played during the pleasant evening of bridge, which followed dinner, were winners of the first prize, while Mr. and Mrs. Paul Dinsmore were awarded consolation.

Mrs. Kingsley Pottle won first prize among the bridge club members and Mrs. Stanley Anderson, second. Mrs. Leland Finley, received consolation. Beautiful bouquets of flowers sent to Mrs. Swales by Mrs. W. F. Kistinger, her neighbor, and Mrs. Dixon Tubbs decorated the living room of the Swales' home for the gala event.

The couple was married April 17, 1918 at the home of the bride, then Margaret Schmetgen, on East Palmyra avenue, Orange.

Fred Newcomb of Santa Ana was toastmaster and orchids were presented to the honored couple by Mr. and Mrs. Albert Heinicke of Santa Ana, who grew the rare flowers. A large china egg was also presented them by the guests, the egg containing 20 silver dollars.

MRS. MARY STODDARD

Home, Children Threadbare, While Father Charges His Cigars

"There ought to be a law— How many times I think that as I read letters from wives and mothers who work hard morning, noon and night, give the best years of their lives to managing the home, rearing the children and cooking, washing, mending, sewing (when they can get anything to sew) for some man who handles the paycheck to suit himself."

It seems to me that wives like the one who writes the following letter ought to have a showdown with the court of domestic relations. Of course, it's apt to make the "head of the house" furious at first, but a judge might be able to convince him to some extent of his unfairness toward the other partner of marriage.

Dear Miss Stoddard: Just how much is a mother entitled to? Has she the right to express herself and say what she will do with the pay-check, or does she have to stand by and see her husband borrow money from the store where he is employed the next day, or have to run a cigar and beer bill at two different restaurants, when she and her children are destitute for underwear, towels and sheets, all of this in view of the fact he draws a good salary each month?

He'll borrow money and take the children downtown with him, say nothing about what he has in his pocket and take what he wants from the family allowance, buy the children things to eat and tell them not to tell me.

If he comes home and drops any change from his pocket he puts his finger to his mouth and tells the children not to mention it.

This borrowing has been going on for eight years and I'm so desperate by now I can't think straight any more. I have one dress to my name, one undershirt, the children are destitute for undergarments. Our girl sleeps on a dayvorn way too short for her—and her dad keeps on buying cigars! What can I do? Can you suggest something? H. L. B.

First of all, I think you started out being too lenient with a man who needed a firm, guiding hand from the start.

Have you ever discussed with him how he expects your children to grow up honest citizens, when he sets such a deplorable example for them?

Tell him the "worm has turned" and that you are going to court to demand a decent change in life for your family since he is so selfish he doesn't seem to care.

F. T. A. PROGRAM IS INSPIRING

Mrs. Lorene Croddy Graves gave a talk on the topic "Music in the Home" at the Roosevelt school P. T. A. meeting, held at the school, Tuesday evening. The first grade gave a program which had to do with their school work.

Mother'singers chorus, under the direction of Mrs. Graves, sang several numbers. Frank A. Henderson, superintendent of schools, spoke on the "Reading Readiness Program." H. P. Klotzky, new president of the Roosevelt school P. T. A. received the gavel from Mrs. O. P. Martin, past president.

With Mrs. Herbert Hildebrand presiding at the president's chair for the final time, McKinley P. T. A. met Tuesday night for installation of new officers. Mrs. James Givens, Santa Ana council president, officiated at the rites that made Mrs. A. Garthe president, Mrs. Mary Andrews, vice president; Mrs. Dale Elliott, second vice president; Miss Inez Hickman, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Ruby Drake, recording secretary; Mrs. Herbert Hildebrand, treasurer; Mrs. J. A. Gajski, auditor; Mrs. Paul Webb, historian; and Mrs. Floyd Mitchell, parliamentarian.

Miss Mary Andrews, school principal, was presented with a P. T. A. pin by Mrs. Hildebrand, who in turn received a lovely gift from the membership, presented by Mrs. Franklin. The latter made panny corsages for each new officer.

Featured on the program was a musical presentation by Miss Josephine Good's fourth grade pupils, who won the attendance prize, David Menden of Whittier, first school gave an interesting talk on that institution, and a boys' orchestra played.

Mrs. Hall Is Hostess At Coast Club

Continuing the round of lovely parties in compliment to Miss Betty West and Miss Prudence Roberts, Mrs. Ed. M. Hall yesterday received 60 guests at a delightful affair at the Pacific Coast club in Long Beach where she has frequently been hostess at outstanding society events.

A theme of bridal white was carried out in the luncheon table, each of which seated ten. Silver appointments and hands of silver cloth were charming contrasts to the lovely flowers and tapers used, and a beautiful basket of lilies and other white blossoms tied with silver ribbons was set beside Mrs. Hall as she greeted her guests, the gift of Mrs. J. Wayne Harrison.

A smart accent to the chic afternoon ensemble worn by the hostess was a plaque of camellias designed to fit over her handbag, and sent her by one of the honorees, Miss Roberts.

This thoughtful gift was especially appropriate since Mrs. Hall had chosen the smartest of Macchabelli traveling cases for her high-score awards, which, at the close of the afternoon, went to Mrs. Emory D. White, Mrs. Howard Timmons and Mrs. Sara Johnston Haddon.

Mrs. Hall was assisted in hostess duties by Mrs. Dixon Tubbs, Mrs. John McKittick, Mrs. Howard Timmons, and Miss Betty Timmons. Her out-of-town guests were Mrs. Carlyle Downs of Long Beach, Mrs. Charles Lewis of Puente, Mrs. Samuel Kraemer of Placentia, and Mrs. Will Flood and Mrs. Norman Pixley of Pasadena.

TRI QUAD CLUB HONORS RECENT BRIDE

Miss Edna Mae Heim was hostess last night to members of Tri Quad club at a lovely dinner party held at Dixie Castle, when the guests were seated at one long table centered with a bowl of lavender stock and pink sweet peas. White corsages and the smart practicality of the print for travel of any sort. These are the royal blues and copper tones—the pastels with darker designs printed upon them—the brown and whites—the green and yellows. Rayon in her modernized glory is a wonderful being, washable and wonderfully resistant to wrinkling. In fact many of the new synthetics are without equal. And then the rattle-like cottons and very coarse linens and silk alpaca and congo cloths and endless novelty cottons are utterly perfect.

The simpler costume the better. Motoring has no patience with fussy things. It is a trying sport (on clothes) and they must be a sturdy and resistant as ever a riding outfit or golf costume might be. They have to be loosely cut too—for one cannot sit for hours in anything too fitted or tight. Have you ever driven far in a tailored suit? Oh—oh!

And they must be cool—which means an easy, open neck and in probability a short, loose sleeve. And then it all goes back to the golden rule which makes any woman in any costume under any conditions an interesting creature. She must have the right accessories. A really good-looking pair of sport shoes (and not left-overs from winter's costume), a gay belt—a huge, stunning bag and a soft, simple hat to match will lift this motor frock into the realm of a "fashion first."

Mrs. Phillips received a past president's pin from the organization by Mrs. Harold Moomaw, junior past president. Mrs. Phillips gave the school an electric clock for the auditorium on behalf of the P. T. A., which was graciously accepted by Mrs. Hazel Maxwell, principal.

Mrs. Nellie Hughes and Mrs. Charles Hellman, assisted by second grade mothers, were hostesses for the afternoon. Corsages of appreciation were presented by the outgoing president to Mrs. Drown and Mrs. Maxwell. Other outgoing officers were Mrs. Kenneth Green, Mrs. Basil Underwood, Mrs. Margaret Alexander, Mrs. Howard Henry, Mrs. Norman Coudry, and Mrs. Ray Walworth.

MCKINLEY HAS NEW HEADS INSTALLED

With Mrs. Herbert Hildebrand presiding at the president's chair for the final time, McKinley P. T. A. met Tuesday night for installation of new officers. Mrs. James Givens, Santa Ana council president, officiated at the rites that made Mrs. A. Garthe president, Mrs. Mary Andrews, vice president; Mrs. Dale Elliott, second vice president; Miss Inez Hickman, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Ruby Drake, recording secretary; Mrs. Herbert Hildebrand, treasurer; Mrs. J. Following the meeting a party was held honoring Warren Mann who will leave with his parents for Colorado soon to make his home there. Refreshments were served by Mothers' circle with Mrs. Glen Lycan as refreshment chairman.

An incident in John Muir's life will be given by the children, in addition to some musical numbers.

MRS. MARY HAMPTON

Will Help You With Your Clothes Problem. Write Her!

I am just chuck full of motor and travel ideas—and since in the spring a California's fancy gently turns to thoughts of the road, it is high time to begin writing about these things. Besides—no end of letters have come in asking such questions.

There are two great angles of approach—the be-trousered and the be-skirted!

Personally I do not care for slacks, and the reason is that so few women wear them correctly. Of course, it goes without saying that slacks still should be worn only by the slender and the youthful. For slacks are still a growing trend—and pioneers must be those who can do the thing with outstanding attractive—ess—success. The fat and 40 may be wearing them a few years hence—but not this summer!

Let's talk about the be-skirted devotees today—and tomorrow I shall write about slacks and how to wear them with dash.

"The old dress which will do" is out—oh definitely out. Moderns are no more willing to wear any old thing motoring than they are willing to wear any old thing to a club luncheon. It isn't done. No—there is a special dress—suitable, attractive and comfortable. It cannot be dark colored with looking crab and dingy. It cannot be too light without showing wrinkles and the wear and tear of driving. But there is a splendid group of in-between colors which just meet the occasion. Usually they are prints, for nobody has ever invented anything which equals the smart practicality of the print for travel of any sort. These are the royal blues and copper tones—the pastels with darker designs printed upon them—the brown and whites—the green and yellows. Rayon in her modernized glory is a wonderful being, washable and wonderfully resistant to wrinkling. In fact many of the new synthetics are without equal. ## FASHIONETTES

By LOIS MCKEE

FASHION CHATTER

Dear friends:

The beauty of Easter Sunday is an indication of the days that are coming so it won't be long until we see white appearing. White is being used in combination with colors which heretofore have been considered taboo with white. Luggage tan is often used as contrast and makes a very striking appearance. Navy blue has long been good with white and seems to have passed all previous records this year, in popularity.

A few brave spirits have been seen at the beaches this early, in bathing suits and play suits and of course pajamas. The designers have really outdone themselves this year as never before have I seen beach clothes so becoming. I am sure we will all want to spend more time at the beach with clothes looking so chic.

Perhaps I shall see you there. Until then,

DIXIE CASTLE IS FAVORITE DINING AND DANCING SPOT

HOME OF FAMOUS FOODS

Those who like to swing the light fantastic with their meals and beverages find the Dixie Castle one of Orange county's best dining, dancing and drinking places. Situated on the 101 Highway south of Anaheim, the Dixie Castle boasts an unexcelled cuisine, with irresistible music from some of California's finest dance bands. Those who have not visited it recently will find that the new managers have made many improvements which make the Dixie Castle much more attractive.

The fame of the new Dixie Castle has spread throughout this area and parties drive from many miles around to partake of the delicious dinners cooked in the old-fashioned southern style. There is dancing every night. Parties wishing reservations may call Orange 743-W.

STATE EDITOR FOR AP DIES

SACRAMENTO. (AP)—Homer T. Ashbaugh, state news editor of the Associated Press at Sacramento, died at 2 a. m. yesterday at a local hospital. He had been ill a month of stomach and intestinal disorders.

Ashbaugh, formerly western division editor at San Francisco, would have finished his thirtieth year with the Associated Press next Christmas. Prior to joining this service he was with the United Press at Kansas City, St. Louis and Chicago.

Forty-nine out of fifty state highway patrolmen yesterday volunteered to give blood for a transfusion which was planned for today. Sacramento newspapermen and others had previously given transfusions.

Ashbaugh was born at Freeport, Pa., Jan. 5, 1876.

BRANCH OF MEDICINE

The name geriatrics, from the Greek word for old age, has been suggested to describe the branch of medicine dealing with care of the aged—similar to pediatrics, dealing with care of children.

LOW COST OF VENETIAN BLINDS SURPRISES BUYERS

HOME OF VENETIAN BLINDS

Few people realize how inexpensive Venetian blinds really are, according to Martini & Co., Venetian blind manufacturers at 311 Fruit street, Santa Ana. Because of their high cost when first introduced in this country, few people realize that nowadays, through increased efficiency in manufacturing methods, they cost no more than the old-fashioned type of window coverings.

Entirely new methods of manufacture pioneered by the company headed by Mr. Martini have now made it possible to buy Venetian blinds for as little as 35 cents per square foot. This is a high quality blind, with slats of Port Orford cedar, the wood whose non-splitting feature has made it the choice of archers the world over, as the shaft for true arrows. It also has French's famous English tape, and Zarnack fittings, which are absolutely non-rustable and non-corrosive. Even steel-slat blinds may be bought for 48 cents per square foot. Further information may be obtained by calling the company at Santa Ana 5368.

Citrus Growers 'Go' Scientific

"One hoss shay" methods in agriculture are not used in Orange county's citrus orchards, according to Joe Haynes and H. L. Boyer of the Orchard Service Laboratory, West Third street, Tustin. The successful citrus grower uses just as scientific methods as are used by the leading industries of the country. They consult the firm owned by Mr. Haynes and Mr. Boyer to be sure that their groves will produce good fruit regularly.

Soil analysis to determine the amount of moisture needed and when it should be applied; to determine the amount and type of fertilizer to be used, and when; analysis of the irrigation water to determine if it contains any injurious salts—these are part of the service the Orchard Service Laboratory offers its clients. Such methods are a guarantee of bountiful and regular citrus crops, according to Mr. Haynes. They may be reached at Santa Ana 5437.

Trailer Season Now at Height

Trailers! Trailers! Trailers! That's the cry at the Santa Ana establishment of R. L. Peterson, 1211 South Main street. Mr. Peterson, who is dealer in Orange county for "Covered Wagon" and other popular makes of trailers, also has a complete stock of used trailers for sale and rents trailers by the day, week or month. In fact, as far as Orange county is concerned, Peterson's is trailer headquarters. He also maintains a trailer repair and reconditioning service.

Mr. Peterson operates the Western Finance Co., which finances the purchase of automobiles, trailers, trucks, etc. And he is the Santa Ana dealer for Hupmobile 6 and 8, offering complete sales and service on the new Hupmobiles.

Local Dancer Wins Stardom

Santa Ana may well be proud of one of its "dancing daughters," Lorraine Seavy, for this beautiful and talented young resident of Orange county is winning nationwide fame through her skill in this type of entertainment. Miss Seavy is now on an eight months tour of the entire United States, being the featured dancer with the famous Chishman Troupe of Los Angeles. Miss Seavy received all of her training here at the Vera Getty Dance Studio, 204 East 4th street, under the personal supervision of Vera Getty.

Miss Seavy is only one of the many graduates of the Vera Getty Dance Studio who have earned fame during the four years Miss Getty has maintained her studio in Santa Ana. Miss Getty specializes in tap dancing, ballet, acrobatic, Spanish and novelty dances. Her students appear before service clubs, lodges and other organizations about once a week.

ORANGE AMONG 8 COUNTIES WHERE TOMATO FIGURES VARY

I Just Found OutAbout
Arson
Methods—By—
MILLARD
BROWNE

Fire-bugs and fire-flies are entirely different things. They have one thing in common, though: Both are rare sights around Santa Ana, particularly fire-bugs.

That comes from Fire Marshal Frank D. Corey, who has the task of watching for them. Whenever there's a fire, whether or not its origin is suspicious, Corey must look for dirty work, rarely finds any.

Searching for arsonists is just one of the fire marshal's chores, though. His biggest one is making inspections, and this is his busiest season, since everything must be in "apple pie order" for the approaching dry season.

Santa Ana firemen have discovered only three fire-bug cases in the past six months, two of them out of spite, the third motivated by domestic trouble and heavy drinking. Usual motives for arson are insurance, spite and mental quirks, but Santa Ana has had no fires for insurance in several years, has never had a degenerate professional fire-bug, though inspectors are keeping their fingers crossed.

Typical arson case: Two mysterious hay-pile fires in the West First street area on the same night. Three boys were arrested later, confessed they were drunk at the time and set the fires "just to see the hay burn."

Last case was in Delhi. It was detected promptly because the fire was put out before the building burned, and Corey found two separate fires had started in different parts of the house. The occupant was convicted. Gathering evidence and motives is part of Corey's job, but actual prosecuting is left with the district attorney's office.

Corey attends every fire, makes a complete report, including cause, suppression time, value of the property and amount of loss. Leading cause last year was trash burning that got out of control. It started 28 of the city's 188 blazes, while wiring caused 24 more, grass-burning caused 15, smoking 14, and 11 were incendiary (including cases where juveniles played with matches).

This time of year Corey averages 225 inspections a month, mostly in the business area (No. 1 fire district). He's busy setting up a permanent record of every building in the high-value district now. It will include such information as the type of construction, number of stories, fire escapes, exits, basement and roof conditions, fuel, location of electric and gas meters, wiring, etc.

Chief value of the permanent record will be to facilitate future inspections (all business buildings are looked over four times a year), although it will be of practical use in fighting fires by giving firemen complete information about each building in a certain area where a fire may break out.

Firemen already have records of

POLITICAL RACE
SHOWS PROMISE OF UNCERTAINTY

By FRANK ORR

Although Chairman Willard Smith is mightily disgusted with his playmates on the board of supervisors, chances are he'll be in there pitching, come election time. Reason is that Smith sees a chance to break up the N. E. West domination of the board which has pulled the supervisors by the ears into some of the loudest and bitterest fights ever.

Should John Mitchell be defeated—and that looks likely to many observers—Harry Riley probably would become more conservative, and West again might find himself a loud but unheeded minority, even if he runs for supervisor instead of congressman and is elected.

Willis Warner of Huntington Beach, they say, leads the field in Mitchell's district today. Mitchell may run Dick Hester of Katella instead of himself, but in the district Former Mayor Warner still has the edge—especially with the backing of New Mayor M. M. McCallen, Huntington Beach political meteor, and the council. McCallen, polling the largest plurality in history, is squarely back of Warner.

Another candidate will be Elmer J. Hughes, mayor of Seal Beach, who has not yet announced his candidacy but is expected to shortly.

Certain rumors, published last week, in mysterious fashion and without names being named, aroused a small amount of curiosity among those who figured something sinister, indeed, was going on.

The candidate who "may not actually file" because he has his eye on another job is Maxwell Burke, tentative candidate for district attorney. Burke would much rather be judge, but he thinks his chances at Bill Menton's job would be better. So he's quite undecided, although he probably will take the latter.

The "young Santa Ana attorney" who may get into the district attorney's race possibly is Joel Ogle, attorney for the stockholders of the publication, which mentioned the rumors. Ogle decides suddenly when he starts to run—as he did when he went after the city attorney's job once. Running for office is good publicity for a young attorney, though.

There is also a rumor that Frank West isn't really running for Judge James L. Allen's job. That rumor is unfounded. West is very much in there, and hopes to cut a large slice of both Allen and Kenneth Morrison votes—maybe large enough to get in. If he didn't think he had a chance to win, says the sagacious West, he wouldn't be wasting his time running.

where each of Santa Ana's 700,000 gallons of underground gasoline storage stations are, know exactly where the only dynamite and dynamite caps are located. If fire started near any of these danger points, firemen would speedily remove the dynamite or steer the fire away from gas reservoirs.

If a new businessman has ever had a questionable fire, he's marked the day he hits Santa Ana. Firemen have a cooperative agreement with other departments to furnish information on every businessman who enters a new town, just in case he was suspected of burning down a former establishment.

Points most closely watched in inspection are trash disposal setups, wiring, janitors' equipment (olly rags, etc.), bottoms of elevator shafts and location of fire prevention equipment. Most haz-

Landscape Design
Class to Take Trip

Members and former pupils of the Willard Evening High school landscape design class are invited to attend a field trip next Saturday afternoon, which will start at 2 o'clock from the school building.

Army of 'Stingers' Visits Downtown

Santa Ana's shopping district was buzzing more than usual with business this week when a swarm of bees from the country dropped into town. After chasing scores of people from East Fourth street, the bees got tired of the fun and settled on a projection of a Dickey Furniture store show window. Picture at left shows J. O. Thodbee, 2703 Bush street, capturing the little insects. To the right is a view of the bee settlement.

ardous businesses: Cleaning establishments, which are inspected periodically by state rather than local officials. People in hazardous occupations almost invariably take more precautions than others, firemen observe.

Although majority of Santa Ana's fires have been in the residential area, firemen never inspect homes except when invited. They rarely get invitations these days, either, although they're willing to do it any time. Last time wholesale residence inspections were made was after the earthquake, when nearly every one wanted his chimney looked over.

Hundreds of complaints come in every year, are always investigated, even if they seem to be just neighborhood squabbles. Usual complaint is that a neighbor is burning trash too near a shed, or that he's burning before or after hours (6 a. m. to 12 noon).

In business inspections, firemen never have trouble getting the merchants to follow their recommendations. Once in a while a merchant will seem hostile, but he'll invariably clean up when ordered to. Where wiring is faulty, firemen turn over recommendations to the city electrical inspector, who follows up the case.

Despite the persistent notion that hardened copper is a "lost art," there are great quantities of such copper in commercial use.

COST, INCOME RATED IN MOST
FRUITFUL AREASOnly Two of Regions
Minus Quantities

Widely different cost and income figures on tomato production in eight of California's most fruitful counties have been arrived at by the University of California after a year's study. The counties covered are Orange, San Bernardino, San Benito, Los Angeles, Ventura, Alameda, Contra Costa and Sacramento.

San Bernardino county seems to have made the best showing in regard to net income per acre, at $42.36, while Ventura county showed a gross return of $160.61 per acre. Alameda county netted $25.84 per acre as against gross costs of $82.65 per acre, the lowest gross costs for any of the counties covered. The highest gross costs were shown by Ventura county, which also scored the highest gross income. Only two of the counties recorded minus figures in their net income, while the plus figures ranged from $3.68 per acre in Sacramento county to the figure given for San Bernardino county.

The university's report strongly qualifies the whole study with the statement that the acreage covered was so small that it was not indicative of total county figures in any instance and growing conditions vary widely in the different counties. The difference between the cultivation of owned land and rented land are also taken into consideration.

The average yield per acre and the costs and income per ton are included in the summary, which was prepared by Wallace Sullivan, extension specialist in farm management, College of Agriculture, with the cooperation of the county agents in each of the eight counties.

FLOATING CARPET
Reeds, bamboo and vines floating on the Upper Nile become so firmly packed in flood time that an elephant can walk on the floating carpet.

The design class holds its regular meetings each Monday evening from 7 to 9 o'clock.

High bred cattle came under the critical eyes of judges in South San Francisco recently, at the 11th Annual Interstate Junior Livestock show. The young owners are members of Future Farmers and 4-H clubs in California, Montana, Idaho, Oregon, Utah and Nevada. Attending the show with their livestock were (left to right) Robert Mundkowski, 17, Santa Rosa, Calif.; Lecta Lou Linebaugh, 17, Utah county, Utah; and Fritz Jane Neddenriep, 17, Minden, Nev. The 11-month-old Hereford, "Jimmy Boy," belongs to Miss Neddenriep.

Long as fools accept a sword and gun.
And fight my wars for me,
(I shall be a slacker).
What's heroism—compared to wealth.

(Why am I yellow?)
Happiness—and joy of, living
thrills;
The same as patriotism does.
I've made another fortune;
War? The hell it's hell.

IS MY FACE RED?
A lot of us pointing,
Forever as "spouting."
"Bout" labor and capital, too.
A lot of us doubting?
Have found while out "scouting"
The joke is, of capital, few
Have more than a penny;
And little, if any,
Real labor have they ever done.

So, capital, labor—
And what not dear neighbor
Is really a whole lot of fun.

First Appearance
Of Orpheo Troupe
For Current Year

Presenting the first program of the 1938 season, the Santa Ana Junior college Orpheo troupe, under the direction of Gil Brookings, performed yesterday afternoon at Garden Grove High school. The program consisted of a talk, vocal and instrumental musical numbers by Wilbur Masters, Bruce Buell, Onie Saunders, Brookings, and the jaysee men's octette; and a one-act play under the direction of Ernest Crozier Phillips, jaysee drama instructor. Huntington Beach High school will be the next stop, April 27.

ADVICE GIVEN BY FIRST LADY

Mrs. Franklin Roosevelt revealed to a University of Maryland audience that her uncle, President Theodore Roosevelt, once wished "that for five minutes, I could be president and congress, too." "We asked him what he would do," she said, "and he replied: 'I would pass a law that no one could come to congress unless they had been in at least two-thirds of the states.'" The first lady urged students know their country and suggested that they begin by knowing their own communities.

Exchange
Widens Citrus
Distribution

New markets reached to take full advantage of existing demand

THE problems of over-production can be called solved only when crops are adequately sold through the normal channels of trade.

While proration and sales to government agencies are important, they afford temporary relief rather than permanent remedy.

Ultimately, demand must be brought in step with production through educational activities exemplified by Sun-kist advertising. Meanwhile, the full force of present demand must be utilized.

Seeking out this demand and reaching it with supplies are phases of distribution which the Exchange is well equipped to handle.

The Exchange has its own sales offices in 57 leading United States and Canadian markets, including Hawaii.

Through them, the smallest hamlets are brought within reach.

Each year, the Exchange's dealer service men make nearly 100,000 personal calls on the retail trade, promoting increased sales through displays, correct margins and seeing that Exchange fruit is everywhere available to the consumer.

For distribution outside our borders, the Exchange has representatives in Europe and the trans-Pacific. Because the Exchange was prepared, it was able to take advantage of unusual conditions to ship 278,000 boxes of Sun-kist Navel in European trade this winter.

In the Exchange, growers have the advantage of a widened distribution for their fruit. It is another of the benefits of cooperation which increase as more join hands within the industry.

Carpenteria Selections

On to Carpenteria! That will be the cry of nine varsity and six middleweight track-and-field preps of Santa Ana's Saints, who will leave here Saturday morning to compete in the Russell Cup Invitational, California's oldest meet.

Varsity entries, Coach Reece (Pinky) Greene said today, will be Worth Elliott, 100 and 440; Jerry Duffy, 440; Tom Engelmann, hurdles; Bob Frelas, mile; Eugene Hamaker, hurdles and pole vault; Bob Maddock, shot put; Wayne Piper, 100 and 220; Wendell Tardust, high jump; and Don Warhurst, 220 and 440. Elliott, Duffy, Warhurst and Piper also will run the 880-yard relay.

Class B boys competing are Bob Allen, Byram Bates, Jack Clark, Larry Dresser, Jack Granados, Jack Harper. Manager Leo Goldstein will accompany the team.

Frank Wyckoff, former "world's fastest human," will present a perpetual trophy donated by him to the winner of the fastest 100-yard dash of the day. . . . Huntington Beach, Anaheim, Garden Grove, Newport Beach and Excelsior are other nearby schools entered with the Saints. . . . Five hundred athletes from 34 southland schools will compete.

Levin, Meet Fredericks

Few sports fans, living in Santa Ana since 1928, need an introduction to elephantine Jack Fredericks, erstwhile tackle and fullback for our Saints and Dons, and later a pretty fair guard at U. C. L. A.

Jolting Jack, 200-pound captain of Bill Cook's '32 squad, would like to return to Westwood, complete his eligibility in football. This seems improbable now that he is managing an automotive parts service in Santa Ana, and depends on this for a livelihood.

Fredericks would continue his football, but it's easier to live on money than cheers from the grandstand. Thus, football is out!

There's another sport, however, that Fredericks might like, and at the same time receive ample compensation. It's wrestling.

New Promoter M. J. (Bud) Levin, ever-alert to stimulate interest in the hug-and-tug wars hereabouts, is on the prowl for local talent. He already has under his wing one Sammy Goodwin of Thurgate, a clean-cut lad weighing around 185 pounds. If he wants another local boy—and he does—I suggest Levin meet Fredericks, who already has intimated he would be interested.

Mann to Colorado U.

Warren (Whitey) Mann, the blond southpaw who played lots of quarterback for our Saints, and was a leading candidate at running guard for our Dons next fall, will leave tomorrow to make his home in Grand Junction, Colo., with his parents, who have returned to Santa Ana to pick him up.

Bottom of the Barrel

The great Seabiscuit leaves in a padded box-car from Bay Meadows today for an eastern invasion in which he stands a strong chance of becoming the greatest money-winning racehorse of all time. A victory over War Admiral in a match race at Belmont park in New York May 30 would bring Seabiscuit's turf winnings to $354,000, and his prospects during the summer include rich stake handicaps at Pimlico, Belmont Park, Suffolk Downs and Hollywood Park. San Ben now holds the record for stakes winnings at $376,744.

Doug Wheeler, Fullerton's lanky southpaw who belongs to the Indianapolis Indians, will not be with the Class AA club in the American Association this year. He has been sent to Montgomery, Ala., in the Class B Southeastern league for another year of seasoning. . . . We like the University of California trackmen to defeat Stanford by at least five points Saturday. . . . Dick Shepard, former Saint and Don wrestler, won the light-heavyweight grappling championship for the University of California last week. . . . Ali Pasha, the Arabian who wrestles at the O. C. A. C. on Highway 101 tonight, is said to be one of the most colorful mat-adorers in the light-heavyweight division.

WESTMINSTER WITHDRAWING

Penhall Club 'On The Fence'

With Manager Francis Penhall still "on the fence," requesting another week's deliberation before renewing or withdrawing Westminster's franchise, National Nightball league officials were unable to draw a definite '38 schedule in a meeting at Anaheim last night.

All managers except Penhall of Westminster, Howard Bard of San Bernardino and Ernie Lagier of Irvine, who were not present, voted to play four rounds even if the last one must be crowded into the games a week to complete the regular schedule around Aug. 19. The Shaughnessy playoffs for the four top teams would follow.

If Westminster withdraws, Santa Ana's first game bye under the nine-team set-up will be abandoned, and Manager "Doc" Smith's Stars will open their season May 10 against Orange's Cubs at the Municipal bowl. If Westminster remains in the fold, however, Santa Ana will not swing into action until the following Friday night.

A schedule will be delayed pending Westminster's efforts to remain in the league. It was announced unofficially that Manager Penhall is trying to swing a deal with W. F. Feistner whereby some of his '37 Anaheim stars would join the Aviators.

President Jimmie Heffron, ironing out minor details, said emphatically he would enforce the rule requiring all players to wear caps, and prohibit them from smoking on the field. The pass list will be restricted to 15 for each club.

MONTGOMERY FACES TEST HERE TONIGHT

Ali Pasha, Arabian, Wrestles Hansen In Feature Match

By MATT BURNS

Nick Lutze, always popular with Orange County wrestling fans, returns to the Orange County Athletic club arena tonight for the first time since he headed the break of "big name" wrestlers from the Daro "trust." The show opens at 8:30 o'clock.

Lutze meets "Tarzan" Bob Montgomery, rough and tough grappler from Little Rock, Ark., in a two-out-of-three fall finish match that, according to indications, will be one of the hardest fought mat battles in the history of the Highway 101 arena.

Montgomery and Lutze wrestled to a 45-minute draw in Wilmington, with Lutze registering frequent complaints with the referee about Montgomery's fouling and rough tactics. Experts point out that, when it is necessary, Lutze can be as rough as any matman in the game, and predict that he will win the main event in straight falls.

Another 45 minutes of "dynamite" is scheduled for the semi-main event when Pat (Popeye) O'Brien meets Tony (Killer) Morelli. The Italian is another wrestler who would rather win than be popular, and generally relies on the choke hold and "hidden punch" when the going is tough. O'Brien, a durable Irishman, can be as rough as Morelli and probably will have to use everything he has tonight.

In the feature event Ali Pasha, Said-Bel Arabian, meets Fritz Hansen, Minnesota, in a one-fall finish match and Comrade Josef Smallinski, Moscow, Russia, tangles with Leo Newman of Toronto, Can., in the curtain-raiser.

LIONETTES IN 8-6 VICTORY

Lois Terry, blonde submariner, pitched Orange's Lionettes into undisputed possession of second place in the major girls' softball league, 8-6, last night at Sunset field, Hollywood.

Hurling six-hit ball, Miss Terry had only one bad inning, in which she struck out the first two batters, whiffed the third until the umpire changed his mind, and then walked the next three, who scored on a triple by Mastello.

The Lionettes won the game in the first two innings when they scored in the first and five in the second. Phyllis Tucker opened the second with a free pass to first, and was advanced on Roberta Howell's single to right. Ruth Lee cracked out a single to center for two runs. A walk to Margaret Mast and Miss Terry's single to left accounted for two more. Terry came home on an outfield fly.

The Lionettes encounter Columbia Pictures Friday night.

MOTORCYCLE RACES SET FOR MAY 1

Thrills . . . thrills . . . thrills! An action-packed card, with lots of thrills, chills and spills, is promised by Orange County Motorcycle club officials promoting a Southern California district meet on the new official race track, three-quarters of a mile west of the Arches overhead on the coast highway.

The new course, located about six miles east of Huntington Beach, is the only real miniature "Tourist Trophy" course in Southern California. It is a half mile in length, and is 20 feet wide in most places.

For added thrills and spills, the course has been fashioned over two hills, through some sand and a gulley, providing real hazards for the motorcycle speed demons who will risk neck and limb in the racing event May 1. Care has been exercised in selecting the site of the course, so that it will be possible for the entire distance to be visible from any one spot. The track is virtually dustless.

The big event is being sponsored by the Orange County Motorcycle club, organized in 1914 as the third such club formed west of Chicago.

The race has the official sanction of the American Motorcycle association, which is to cycling what the A. A. A. is to automobile racing and the A. A. U. to sports. Only chartered A. M. A. clubs can obtain sanctions for racing events.

DONS' NINE AT S. B. TOMORROW

Coach Blanchard Beatty's Santa Ana Jaycees baseball club invades San Bernardino's diamond tomorrow afternoon for an Eastern J. C. conference game.

The Dons defeated Chaffey but lost to Fullerton in league tilts. San Bernardino lost to Pomona. Jack McClure will take over the starting mound assignment, with Art Nicholas in reserve for the Dons.

SEALS ADVANCE IN COAST LOOP

A 10-run scoring spree coupled with a ninth inning double play with one out and the bases loaded moved the San Francisco Seals into a tie today with Hollywood and Sacramento for second place in the Pacific Coast baseball league.

The Seals handed the Hollywood team its second licking in as many days with a 11-to-9 score yesterday, getting away to a 10-run lead with a second inning splurge.

JOE D'MAGGIO JOINS N. Y. IN WASHINGTON

ENDSHOLDOUT BY SIGNING FOR $25,000

Italian Star Will Report to World Champs Saturday

NEW YORK. (AP)—So Joe took the $25,000 and Messrs. Joe McCarthy, Jacob Ruppert and Ed Barrow breathed a collective sigh of relief the like of which hadn't been heard since the year of the big wind. The Yankees have Joe DiMaggio again.

Perhaps Manager McCarthy was the most relieved yesterday afternoon when DiMaggio wired Business Manager Barrow he had accepted the club's sole offer of $25,000 after holding out for $40,000 since Jan. 21. He said he would leave at once to join his teammates in New York.

It will be up to McCarthy to judge Joe's fitness to play. The outfielder, who was the league's most sensational player last season and who led all majors in home runs, arrives in New York Saturday morning and will be in uniform when the Yankees meet the Washington Senators that afternoon.

Both Joes would like to see No. 37 go up on the scoreboard when the lineups are given to the umpires; DiMaggio because it is costing him about $162 a day to remain idle, McCarthy because his bombers have been futile at bat without the services of the cannoner from the coast.

Ruppert is relieved and triumphant. Not only because the jovial colonel likes to see his Yankees win—154 victories a year wouldn't satisfy him—but because he has won, hands down, one of the toughest holdout battles in recent major league history.

When, on Jan. 21, DiMaggio refused to sign the contract for $25,000, the colonel didn't like it. DiMaggio, despite two remarkable years in which he had hit .323 and .349 with a total of 75 home runs, was asking too much. His 46 home runs had led both leagues in 1937, of course, but the fly ball from San Francisco was being offered a raise of $7,000 over his 1937 salary of $15,000.

"Not a cent more," said the colonel. DiMaggio asked $35,000 and then raised the ante to $40,000. Friends in New York advised him to hang on, further nettling the colonel. Joe hung on until yesterday, when the idea that he couldn't bluff the Yankees, plus the lude of roaring crowds, emerald turf and ringing base hits, was too much.

Baseball men see a victory for owners behind DiMaggio's capitulation. Had he won out, there would have been a bumper crop of holdouts in 1939. At it is, the Yankees have stifled a one-man raid on the big money, which, if successful, would have raised salary hopes all along the line.

They did it with no bonus inducements and according to Ruppert, DiMaggio, certainly the highest paid third baseman in the history of the game, gets "$25,000, no more, no less and I'm very glad the young man has signed."

So the Yankees, with their cast complete, are on the trail of their third straight American league pennant and world championship. Everyone is happy except the pitchers on the seven other American league clubs.

SAINTS' NINE AT RIVERSIDE

Relying on their crack battery of Tommy Wilkins, ace curveballer, and Catcher Ben Elyand to steady their defense, Coach Joe Koegler's Santa Ana Saints invade Riverside tomorrow afternoon to open a baseball campaign, which may lead to the Citrus Belt league championship.

After the Riverside road trip come three successive home stands with Redlands, Pomona and San Bernardino. Chaffey has withdrawn from the baseball race until '39.

Santa Ana's lineup, in addition to Wilkins and Elyand, will find Gene O'Campo on first, Jim Wendorf on second, Pete Partida at shortstop, Maurice Young on third, with Joe Standifer, Bill Dunkin and Bill Hull or Ralph Barnes in the outfield.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS

THE WAR BIRD...
Pigeons, in the Christian world, are symbolic of peace; in Japan they are regarded as messengers of war.

Yet their fame in the latter category received wider attention during the World War than ever was accorded them for peace-time work. Time and again, during moments of despair, carrier pigeons were the only means of communication left to stranded battalions of men.

One of the most famous of the World War pigeons was Mocker, who died last year at the old age of 20, last of the heroic birds that flew in the war. The part Mocker played in smashing the Hindenburg line is still talked of in army circles.

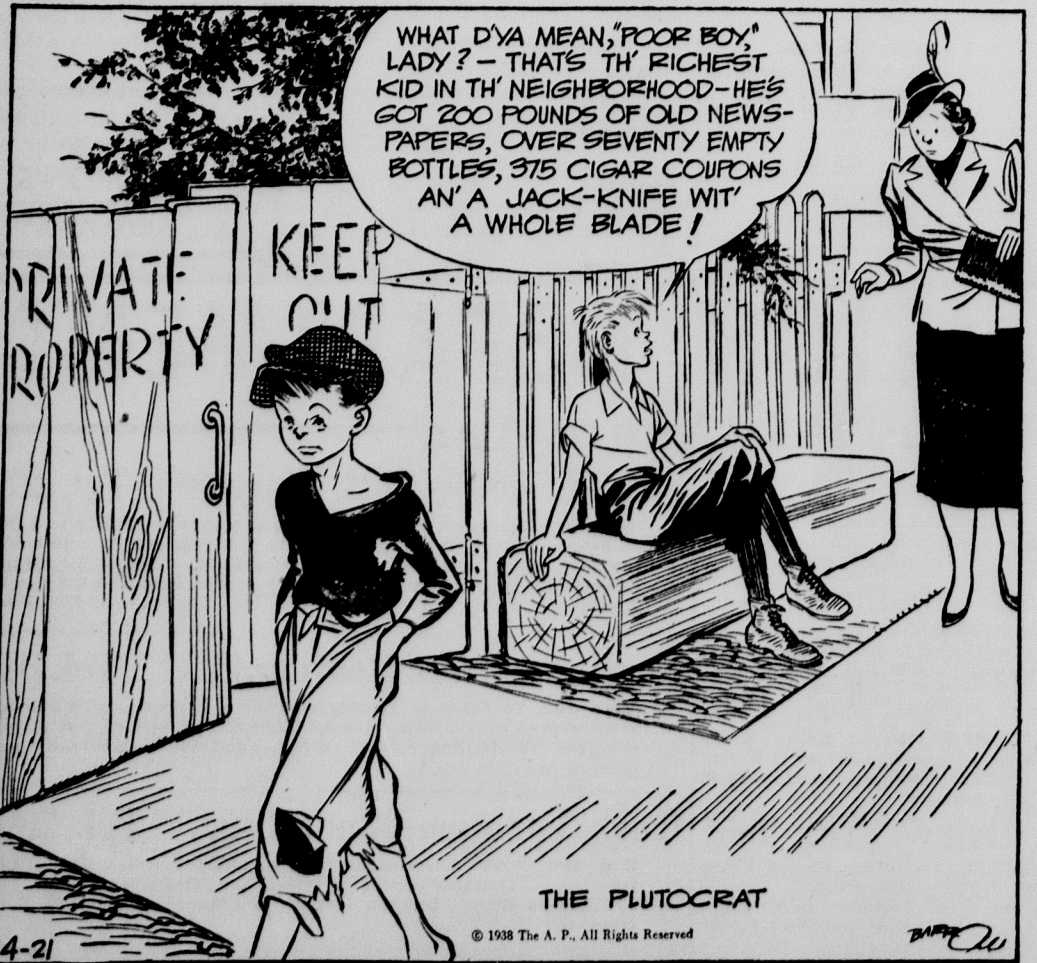

Mocker distinguished himself on Sept. 12, 1918, in the withering fire of the battle of St. Mihiel, when he carried a message from Beaumont giving American artillery the positions of enemy batteries enabling them to silence the German guns in 20 minutes.

Mocker was hit by flying shrapnel and lost one eye on this dangerous mission, but soon was back in service, winging over the front in the St. Mihiel and Argonne drives.

Salary Ordinance Faces Test

The county salary ordinance squabble is now headed straight for where it should have gone long ago—the courts.

It's high time that the taxpayers find out just how they stand on a half dozen disputed matters, among them the fee issue, sick leaves, effective date of the ordinance and private practice of deputy district attorneys.

In sending the matter to the judiciary, the supervisors are doing the right thing.

Especially important is the fee clause of the measure, we believe.

Long ago it became apparent that county officials collecting and retaining fees were determined not to give up this income and accept a straight salary without a bitter fight.

They have denied the right of the board to make a change in their form of compensation, advancing legal arguments to sustain their views.

Whether this particular ordinance is upheld or not, The Journal believes that they are battling in a lost cause.

The fee system allowing officials to draw a commission on the public business they do, sometimes running into thousands of dollars, has been thrown out in many California counties.

Taxpayers got heartily tired of paying what amounted to exorbitant salaries.

We do not believe that Orange county people, either, propose to stand for it any longer than they have to.

It is quite true that the fees of some of the county officials affected amount to only a few hundred dollars per year. In such cases, The Journal has little or no fault to find with the situation.

But in instances like that of the sheriff's office, where the incumbent refuses to tell what he is taking in, and where there is ample reason to think that the extra pay runs into thousands of dollars per year, there is plenty of reason to complain.

The recent grand jury reported that Sheriff Jackson's income from the county, fees and all, was less than $20,000. But this jury failed to divulge who had audited the sheriff's take although a challenge was given them by The Journal, and the public has a right to be shown.

Court test of the present ordinance should bring the matter to a head.

If the ordinance is illegal, then another should be drawn that will stand up, to put the fee money in the public treasury instead of into private pockets.

If it is legal, then it can be enforced at once.

Authorities will test the sanity of a woman who apparently spent thousands of dollars on aimless airplane trips. Of course, it would have been all right if she had spent it on the stock market.

The Birth of a Baby

Although the picturization of "The Birth of a Baby" in the magazine Life is too intimate a series to frame for the parlor wall, there is much to be said of its behalf.

For years the subject has been a delicate one, but if distributing knowledge about childbirth will help reduce maternal and infant death rates, then we'll be the last ones to object.

The public is getting over its shock at seeing some of the heretofore unmentionable matters in black and white. Witness the general acceptance and acclaim of the recent open drive against venereal disease.

Public officials who attempt to ban distribution of such information would be better advised to turn their attention to the volumes of cheap, sexy trash which have no other purpose than to inflame the emotions of the young.

As for legitimate news and pictures about the birth of babies, we all must sooner or later become interested in what kind of children are being offered the world for absorption.

On the blood stream of the nation depends what kind of nation the nation is to be.

But who's going to pull Uncle Sam out of the red after he pulls everybody else out?

The Kid and Life

Few things could be more of a shock to millions of Jackie Coogan fans than the attitude of his mother in the unpleasant Los Angeles court case.

Apparently she intends to keep her grip of every bit of the $4,000,000 that "Kid" Coogan is supposed to have earned during his career as a child actor.

"No promises were ever made to give him anything," she says.

Yet deeply rooted in common law is the precedent that the parent gets the earnings of the child. Jackie, as an industrious little child laborer, earned it, his parents got it, and there the matter stands, unless he can show differently.

It's only fair to repeat here that Jackie's father was killed some years ago in an automobile accident, and that his mother has married his former business manager.

Jackie today is a big boy, 23 years old and married. How much simpler it would have been in the old days. The Kid, his fearful little dirty face registering all emotions at once, would have melted the heart of even a business manager-stepfather.

Even so, if Jackie's facts are straight he has millions of old fans back of him in the hope that he crashes through to an old-fashioned Coogan happy ending.

War threats are quieting down, but we have the baseball war to maintain our spirit.

When Peg Was Writing Baseball

By Westbrook Pegler

NEW YORK. — When I was writing baseball we had in the American league an umpire named Bill Guthrie, who had a long jaw, whom the athletes, with their famous knack for unflattering nicknames, called Dogface Guthrie. Mr. Guthrie loved controversy, preferably physical, but he had a kind heart and a deep, personal admiration for Mickey Cochrane, who was then catching for Connie Mack in Philadelphia.

One day late in one of those seasons when Connie was winning his last batch of pennants the White Sox limped into Philadelphia, dragging themselves around the league for the last time in a contest for eighth place, a distinction which they finally won from the Red Sox by the margin of half a game. The weather was terribly hot, and Mr. Cochrane, after a very hard season, was weary and sluggish. Mr. Guthrie, being large and stout and cumbered with the heavy armor of his trade, not only felt sorry for Mike, but, in loyalty to the American league, wanted to spare him needless exercise so that he could be as fresh as possible for the impending world series.

With these feelings in his heart, he erred on the side of generosity when the Philadelphia pitcher, in the ninth inning, threw one right through Mike's listless hands which rolled about ten yards and stopped. Mike whirled wearily and was starting after the ball when Mr. Guthrie flipped a fresh ball out of his pocket and said, "Let it go, Mike. Here's a clean one."

RUNNER ON FIRST

The White Sox had a runner on first at the moment, but were about eight runs behind with two men out. In these circumstances, Mrs. Guthrie was startled by a shriek from the third base coach's box. It was Mr. Donie Bush, the manager of the White Sox, yelling to his runner to go down to second.

Mr. Guthrie waved the runner back, but the man proceeded, nevertheless, and when he had doubtfully rounded the bag Mr. Bush, from third, with a whistle, commanded him to continue. "Go on back," Mr. Guthrie bawled, "that ball is dead."

"Come on around," Mr. Bush squawked to his runner. "That ball ain't dead. That ball is in play." His runner rounded third and Mr. Bush sent him charging home, where Mr. Cochrane stood at the plate and tagged him with the fresh one.

"Now he's out," said Mr. Guthrie. "He ain't out," Mr. Bush bawled. "He scores."

At this point the other two umpires, George Moriarty and Big Shot McGowan, strolled in to confer privately with Mr. Guthrie, who plainly had booted one.

"Bill," Mr. Moriarty whispered to his colleague, "that ball ain't dead. We have got to do something."

TOO HOT FOR MIKE

"Oh," said Mr. Guthrie, "it's too hot for Mike to go chasing that ball, just before the world series. He is a great little guy and he is all in. What's the difference, anyway? Those bums are way behind, with two men gone, but you would think Donie was fighting for a pennant. Put the mug back on base and leave us get through."

"Yes," said Mr. McGowan, "but what base are we going to put him on? We got four bases. Anyway, now you have called him out on a play at the plate. That was no play."

"Oh, cut it in half and put him on second," said Mr. Guthrie, and this was done, with Mr. Bush of the White Sox, yipping and bounding and vowing to protest the game.

It ended a few minutes later in the customary defeat of White Sox, and, as the players filed, dressing and straggled out, Mr. Bush, somewhat calmer by now, met Dogface under the stand.

"Bill," he said, "I am not going to protest the game. But right is right, and I want you to admit you kicked one. That's all I ask. Just let me win the argument."

Mr. Guthrie shook his head. "That ball," he said, "was dead."

In a more recent controversy I share the position and emotions of Mr. Bush.

I claim that it is unethical for sons of a President of the United States to have profitable dealings with corporations which are beholden to whimsical political bureau of the government for valuable rights and favors, and still more unethical for a President to take into the White House and confer great personal influence on a young man whose sense of propriety is such as that.

I am not going to protest or try to start impeachment proceedings. Like Donie Bush, I just want to win my argument.

JUDGE STUMP

Dear Judge: Was there ever a dog owner who'd tell the truth about the animal's biting ability?

Sandy MacTavish of Edinburgh, Scotland, never came right out and admits his dog would bite anyone, but he hints at it. He just says that when his dog gets thirsty, he sometimes takes a "nip of Scotch."

The Mailbag

Public opinion, or what somebody in office imagines to be public opinion, is our ruler. If public opinion is active, the politicians and people sit up and take notice. There is a definite need for outspoken talking and thinking on public matters. Honest, intelligent fair discussion of our problems is immensely useful. So that every citizen may have his say and contribute to the formation of public opinion, The Journal invites letters to The Mailbag. Please limit communications to 350 words.

A HEAVY PENALTY
To the Editor: I was interested in the topic on the editorial page entitled "Home Owner Penalized."

I also fit the situation as mentioned in this topic, as I have been depriving myself of spending cash for unnecessary things, even amusements, and have been trying to buy a small ranch, hoping to be independent.

I am a willing worker, and I stand high in opinion of other men I have worked with.

But what is a man to do when he is dictated to as to holding his employment, and when a man works when he is sick to hold his employment, when his better judgment would keep the man home, but dictatorship made the man fearful, then the employment officials unhearingly discharge this man, refuse him any assistance, offer no encouragement as to how a man can continue buying a home or keeping up future expenses?

Where is liberty, justice and the Golden Rule these days?
Orange. JOHN FINCH.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONCERTS

To the Editor: The Santa Ana senior high school band wants Sunday that they may play for the people of Santa Ana, but will the ministers of this town let them do it? No. Why? Because this is the first time that they have suggested such a thing.

It may seem ridiculous, but it isn't. Other towns do it, why not Santa Ana? What's a band without the encouragement of the townspeople? Let's help.

A STUDENT.

What Other Editors Say

MR. ROOSEVELT
The most effective introduction to the following quotations will be a postscript:

"Mr. Roosevelt finally authorized a public declaration which was to the effect that he had nothing new of moment to say concerning railroad affairs, and that he would not deviate . . . from the course he had pursued . . ."

"President Roosevelt . . . attributed the financial disturbance . . . to certain malefactors of great wealth . . ."

"Reasons for loss . . . adverse legislation . . . against corporations generally, political attacks against men of wealth and against organized capital . . ."

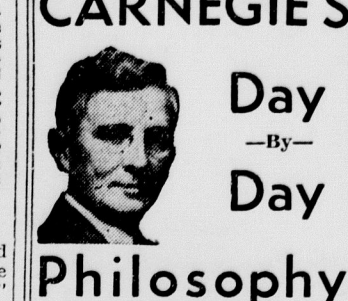

"The court made it clear that there was a limit set by the constitution beyond which the legislator could not go . . ."

"The President's tenure of office is getting shorter and shorter and he . . . failed the congress to enact new radical laws . . ."

"Indications, off and on, that public sentiment is changing. In February, prices suffered the ill effects of President Roosevelt's special message of January . . ."

Philosophy

Today's story is prompted by a letter to me which reads: "I want a job, but how can I get a job when there are not enough to go around? I lost my home to the mortgage company in 1931. I want to work but how can I when no one will give me anything do?"

I am answering that letter in this column. For I want to tell every discouraged reader about a man I know personally. I regret that I cannot use his name for he prefers that I do not.

BORROWED MONEY

When the depression of 1929 struck this country, this man had just bought a home. He had borrowed, to go into business for himself, the sum of $5500. Crash! The $5500 was gone and he was responsible for paying it back. In addition, he had four persons looking to him for their very existence, and two of them were children. What was he to do? He tried to get a job but failed. Then this man said to himself: "There are things that people must have. That's the outlet for me. I know I can sell if anyone else can."

He at once got a concession from a manufacturer who was making something that people had to have. And he found people would pay for what they actually needed.

PAYS OFF MORTGAGE

I now attach the end: This man has paid off the mortgage on his home, during the past eight years of the depression; he has paid his $5500 debt; he has not shirked a single one of the responsibilities that were thrust upon him, and he is now making a most comfortable living in his work of selling people something they need.

What new word sentence in this column was the determining factor in this man's success?

The close of a speech is really its most strategic element. What is said last is likely to be remembered longest.

Never end a speech with the words: "This is about all I have to say; so I guess I'll stop."

Well, if you are ready to stop, then stop. Your audience will detect it without being advised.

PLAN YOUR ENDING

Plan your ending carefully, rehearse it. Know exactly how you want to end it before you begin, but don't memorize it word for word. If you do, you will make it didactic.

Here are some suggestions for a closing:

1. Outline briefly the main points you have covered.
2. Tell a joke which you have worked toward gradually.
3. Pay the audience a compliment which you sincerely mean.
4. But the really most important point to make with regard to your speech is summed up in the following: Make sure that the beginning and the end are not spaced too far apart.

IT'S ODD

But It's Science

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

AT Science Editor
NEW YORK.—More of the scientific handwriting in rocks that tells of the beginnings of the world has been discovered by Lord Rayleigh.

The new example was done in neon, the gas used for electric signs. Lord Rayleigh described it in "Nature," Britain's official journal of science.

He found that granite rocks contained 13 times more neon gas than the atmosphere. Neon is a very small fraction of one percent of the air. To Lord Rayleigh, the excess of neon in these rocks means that at one time the atmosphere contained much more of this gas.

The atmosphere would lose some of its neon to the rocks while temperatures were much higher than now—probably while the rocks were hot. Thus, this bit of handwriting points to a once molten body as the earth's origin.

Lord Rayleigh extracted the neon from four samples of granite by decomposing the samples with fused caustic potash. This was done in a vacuum. There was so much helium from the granite that it masked the small quantities of neon. He got rid of the helium by letting it filter out through a window of red hot silica. The neon would not pass through. After the helium was gone, neon appeared as a yellow line in the spectroscopic.

LOS ANGELES. — The grand jury was informed today that 41 girls gathered from department stores, cafeterias and restaurants were made white slaves by a prominent millionaire whose name is known to the police, and subjected to the most degenerate practices. The case is the outcome of the arrest for blackmail of Katherine Phillips, whose story led to the arrest of Mrs. Josie Rosenberg and three others, charged with being cadets for procurers for the millionaire.

The old Orange county hospital will be vacated tomorrow and all the inmates will be removed to their new abiding place. Mr. and Mrs. John R. McMurdo, superintendent and matron, will go with the county charges.

FDR May Emulate Old Hickory By Vetoing Tax Bill Weakened in Senate; Congress Thinks Not

WASHINGTON.—The big question in and out of congress at the moment is will the President veto the tax bill if the house backs down and accepts the senate's demand that the excess profits levy be junked in toto?

Most congressional insiders feel that he won't, much as he disapproves of the measure as an abandonment of New Deal tax principles. They base this reasoning upon the fact that the tremendous business pressure for signing will be coupled with powerful cabinet support.

With the exception of Secretaries Morgenthau and Ickes, the cabinet, including the idealism-talking Henry Wallace, who has his eyes glued on the White House, favors any kind of a bill giving tax relief to business.

As a result, the congressional master minds are confident that in the end the President will sign on the dotted line. He may accompany his signature with a caustic statement, but he will have to swallow the bitter pill.

While convinced of the soundness of their logic, however, the boys are not entirely certain of it. And one of the chief reasons for their doubt is a confidential bit of information.

OLD HICKORY

Note—The day the President sent his letter to the house and senate conferees vigorously assailing the senate bill, he started reading Marquis James' brilliant life of Andrew Jackson, which with great dramatic force relates Old Hickory's historic battle against rechartering the United States bank.

Jackson's house and senate voted overwhelmingly to give the bank a new charter. And with the exception of Atty. Gen. Roger B. Taney, every member of Jackson's cabinet urged him to approve it. But the hard-bitten old warrior refused, took the issue directly to the country and licked the all-powerful bank.

Roosevelt's devotion to Andrew Jackson is legendary. And the boys on Capitol hill wonder if Roosevelt is refreshing his memory about this historic struggle with the idea in the back of his mind of emulating "Old Andy."

Much as they approve the senate tax bill, the last thing the congressional leaders want is to have it thrown into this year's elections as a major issue. It is not the kind of measure on which to make an appeal for popular support.

Note—New Deal foes of the legislation are calling it the "Baruch bill." "Barney" Baruch, multi-millionaire New York speculator, is an intimate friend of Chairman Pat Harrison of the senate finance committee and proposed most of its major features.

Of all the critics of the senate bill none is hotter under the collar about it than Under Secretary Roswell Magill, the treasury's young tax expert.

When the house measure emerged from the house ways and means committee, with the rate schedules of the capital gains and undivided profits taxes whittled to the bone, left-wing administrationists bitterly denounced Magill for "saving the principle but throwing away the taxes." Reason was that he had been the committee's consultant in the framing of the bill.

When the bill moved to the senate side, Harrison completely disarmed Magill. The door literally slammed in his face. Pat directed the revision of the house measure in accordance with the theories advanced by Baruch.

Magill is the pedagogic type, mild of manner and conciliatory, but the kicking around he got from the senate committee burned him up. Publicly he said nothing. But he talked where it counted.

Note — The sizzling letter the President sent the congressional conferees on the tax bill was written by Magill.

Despite all denials of a clash between the President and Jack Garner, here is a significant indication of what the grizzled little Texan thinks of the man whom he acclaimed effusively as "my commander-in-chief" at the Philadelphia convention just two years ago.

BIG BUSINESS MOVE

W. Averell Harriman, one-time mogul of the NRA, and chief power in the Union Pacific railroad, has been in Washington recently conferring on how big business and the New Deal can get together for the mutual purpose of hoisting the country out of the recession.

The idea evolved jointly by Harriman and some of the practical-minded New Dealers is to get definite pledges from some of the big companies regarding how much they would be willing to spend on new equipment, new improvements and other moves that would put men to work.

In return is proposed a sort of "moratorium on reform" until business picks up.
